

Scientists have calculated the age of the earth using hundreds of different methods

Many calculations show that the earth is not even one million years old